Fitzsimmons has a poor opinion of Jack Munroe's fighting ability, and expressed his belief that Sharkey would knock him out in two rounds in their contest, slated to take place at Philadelphia Saturday night. He anticipates a hard battle, as the winner has been promised a match with Jeffries, and the losing end of a purse with the champion is strong enough incentive to force them to fight for all that is in them from the call of time. Bob will remain over to witness the George Gardner-Jack Root contest, which, he says, will be worth looking at.

RICHMOND, Ind., Feb. 24.-Richmond had a bitter pill to swallow to-night in the defeat administered by Muncie. The score was 12 to 6. It was simply a case of being outplayed. The fast work of Higgins and Hart on the rush line, splendid driving by Farrell and admirable defense by Holderness and Cusick tell the tale. Richmond made a hard fight, but was not fast enough. The game started out fast and took Olle's place in the last period. Line-up looked as if it would be a close one, but after the first period the Quakers were not in the running. Line-up and summary:

The Indianapolis club is in need of a second baseman for the coming season, as Mr. Ruschaupt acknowledged that Schaefer would not play here. Schaefer's name appeared on the Tacoma, Wash., reserve list and he is lost to the Indianapolis club. Schaefer signed with Tacoma as a subterfuge, the contract being provisional that he could sign with Milwaukee after freeing himself from the claim Indianapolis had on his services. Magoon would be a strong addition to the team and President Ruschaupt is offering big inducements to Regarding the Heydon matter, President

Ruschaupt said that the mistake in the reservation of Heydon was made in the office of former President Hickey, of the American Association. The Indianapolis club sent a list of players under reserve to Mr. Hickey on Sept. 8, last year, and a copy of the original reserve list shows that the name of M. E. Heydon appears on it. During the transfer of the names from Mr. Hickey's books to Secretary Farrell, a mistake was evidently made by the stenographer, and instead of M. E. Heydon being on the list, N. E. Haddon appeared. The manager of the Little Rock club claimed that the Indianapolis club made the mistake intentionally so as to prevent clubs from drafting M. E. Heydon. The board of arbitration realized that the mistake must have been made in the office of T. J. Hickey and the player was awarded

RYAN'S STRAIGHT JABS WON HIM THE CONTEST

He Put Beauscholte to Floor Several Times and Stopped Him in the Sixth.

JARRED LOOSE TEETH

Beauscholte Lost a Good Tooth During the Fourth Round-Cole Won on Foul.

Tominy Ryan, middleweight champion jabbed Jack Beauscholte, of Chicago, so severely in their contest at the Auditorium polo rink last night that Referee Ryan stopped the bout in the sixth round and awarded the decision to Ryan. More hard blows were delivered in the battle than in any contest ever witnessed in this city, and but for Beauscholte's wonderful gameness Ryan could have stopped him in one of the earlier rounds. Beauschoite was sent to the floor several times, but so eager was he to try to even matters that he was up before the referee could count four or five. The gong saved him in the fifth round and on two other occasions he stayed down for a rest until Referee Ryan had counted eight. The boxing of Ryan was so fast and of such a character that his less skilled opponent appeared like a novice at the game. In the first two rounds Beauscholte countered on Ryan and the crowd cheered him, but when Ryan began pecking away at Beauscholte's face in the third round the EXPLAINS HEYDON CASE crowd soon realized that it was only a question of a few rounds until the cham-Charles F. Ruschaupt, presdent of the pion would wear his man out. Ryan's terrible force, worried Beauschoffe and he soon showed the effects of the continual hard, and in a few of the mixes near the ropes would get in a good wallop on the champion, but most of his swings went wild because Ryan covered himself or gct out of harm's way. The boxing on Ryan's part was the cleverest and most scientific that has ever been witnessed in this city and those who had never seen him in action before realized why he is acknowledged as the middleweight champion. Ryan was always cool and deliberate even when Beauscholte was rushing him in the first two rounds. He gauged his distance perfectly and showed he knew where to hit, how to hit and when to hit. In the first round he slipped to the floor in backing away from a rush and a few of the spectators thought he had been dumped by his opponent. In the second round he went to the floor as a result of coming in contact with a terrific right hand jab, but he was uninjured. When the spectators began cheering Beauscholte, the champion thought it was time to tear loose, and after the second round, Beauscholte never had a look in. In the third round, Ryan teased him and just before the gong sent him to the canvas. Beauscholte was down twice in the fourth, the last time from a straight right jab in the mouth, which loosened his teeth and a gold tooth dropped from his mouth to the floor. Ryan increased his speed in the fifth and when Beauscholte showed weakness, Sig Hart, his manager and second, threw a towel into the ring, but the referee gave Beauscholte another chance. Beauscholte was weak in the sixth and after being sent to his knees, Referee Ryan stopped the bout. Ryan was seconded by Hugo Kelly, the Western middleweight champion, who defeated "Twin" Sullivan in Chicago on Tuesday night. Russett and Allen were also in his corner. Beauscholte was seconded by Cullen were in his corner. Kelly was introduced to the crowd and the announcement was made that the club is trying to arrange a match for him against a good

The semi-windup between Freddie Cole and Jack Daly ended in the second round. The first round was lightning fast with Cole having a shade. In the second round Daly struck Cole very low and he was warned. Daly soon repeated the trick and after being warned again, he landed a left jab very low and the referee gave the bout The preliminaries were very fast. Dalton
